Each proposal was subjected to a blind reviewing process by three (3) sets of reviewers from different clusters. We had the AI reviewer and the human reviewer; when there's a discrepancy of up to 20% in the scores gotten by both, a reconciliation reviewer is then assigned to make an independent score. The scores were collated, and the average computed. The results were used in the decision-making process to award approvals to 75 eligible proposals to proceed to the next stage.
